How to choose the most suitable pearl earrings for you

Pearl earrings are essential to woman's jewelry box. It's important to choose a suitable pearl earring for you. You should be based on the three tips to choose earrings.

First tip: choose the pearls type

As far as we know, pearls have several types. They are Freshwater pearl, Akoya pearl, South sea pearl and Tahitian pearl. Freshwater pearls are extremely affordable compared to other types of pearls. Akoya pearl has the strongest luster in all pearls. Golden South sea pearl and Tahitian pearl are more expensive than other types of pearls. So which type of pearls you will choose that is determined by your budget.

Second tip: choose the color of pearl earring

Choosing the color of the pearl suits your complexion.

White people have a wide range of pearl color to choose from. Pink or lavender pearls make white people look younger.

People with yellow skin, white or cream pearls are the best choice. The lavender pearl is not suitable for yellow skin.

For black people, don't think white pearls are the only choice for them. Golden south sea pearl is another choice for black people. The yellow color can make the black skin look warm.

Third tips: choose the style of the pearl earring

Choosing the style of the pearl earring go with your face.

If your face is tip, the Drop pearl earring is the best choice for you. We don't recommend Chandelier pearl earring to you. The Chandelier pearl earring make you face looks longer and tip.

If your face is round, chandelier pearl earring is the best choice for you. The round pearl earring will make you face looks more round than before.

If your face is elliptical, you are very lucky. No matter what the shape of the pearl earrings are suitable for you.

How to choose a Tahitian Pearl Necklace

By Clint Jhonson

A Tahitian pearl necklace is a great piece of jewelry to own as one of pearl jewelry sets along with a pair of pearl earrings and a pearl bracelet. The only most essential thing you should do while choosing Tahitian pearls is the nacre thickness which is used to determine the price of these pearls. Then again, besides the nacre thickness there are other things you ought to consider as well to work out the price of the pearls at any jewelry store you might visit whether in your locality or on the Internet.

If a Tahitian pearl necklace has a good luster it will reflect the light nicely. So if you are searching for Tahitian pearls with a good luster at a jewelry store you should reflections in it like you would in a mirror. The luster depends on the nacre thickness and the higher it is, the better the luster and the higher the price. Also if the nacre is thick it will make sure that the luster will last longer and not wear out.

If you are looking for a Tahitian pearl necklace, the size of the pearls is extremely important as you would rather have them all of the same size. If they are made of small pearls it wouldnt be too difficult but if you want the bigger ones, then that could work out to be pretty expensive. Tahitian pearls vary in size from 7.5mm to 16mm; however, the 16mm ones are pretty rare and may not be available no matter which jewelry store you might visit.

When you think of pearls, you probably always think of them as complete spheres. However, this is most often not true and hence perfect spheres will cost you a bomb. Black Tahitian pearls come in a variety of shapes including the round as well as the perfect spheres. They might also be baroque shaped or randomly shaped; neither spherical nor round and rather asymmetrical. These are the other factors that you should look at besides the nacre thickness while buying a Tahitian pearl necklace at a jewelry store.

Tahitian pearls are also called black pearls since they come from the black-tipped oyster. But they dont just come in black but in a variety of colors ranging from black to gray as well as blue, green, pink, brown and several shades in between. It is often difficult to match the colors of pearls in a Tahitian pearl necklace so they cost more than the freshwater pearls at a jewelry store.

Pearls are normally measure in millimeters and come in sizes from 5mm up to 18mm or so. The larger the pearls are the more expensive as well. Same goes for perfect spheres or symmetry and no flaws. The perfectly round pearls will cost more than those which might be a little asymmetrical or have some marks or flaws on it. A Tahitian pearl necklace made from big, perfectly round pearls with no flaws is extremely desirable. And so is the other pearl bridal jewelry available. But nowadays, people have begun to see the beauty of pearls that are irregularly shaped and come in different colors other than the standard white normally available at a jewelry store.

So if you are looking for the perfect Tahitian pearl necklace that jewelry store!
